

Drummond Island Baptist Church, Drummond Michigan

Seeking a pastor

The church uses traditional music and stands firm on the KJV and will not consider candidates who do not have the same conviction. The church averages around 40 in attendance during the winter months, but attendance can rise to upwards of 100 in the summer months, as Drummond Island is a summertime vacation destination. The church is debt-free and has a new building that is almost completed. The church was established in 2005 by a retired missionary and continues to be missions-minded, supporting 11 missionaries. The church can offer some salary, but it would be beneficial for candidates to have some other form of supplemental income as jobs are not readily available on the island. You can read more about the church on their website. Drummond Island has a growing population of 1,100 and is accessed only by ferry. Candidates should understand that this a northern climate church that experiences real winter weather.
