Msg# 1245 Lahai-roi - He Sees Me What The Bible Says Good Samaritan's Penny Pulpit by Pastor Ed Rice Psalm 33:12 says "Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD." Arguably the United States of America could have laid claim to that clause, but that was years ago. If the religion of a nation is what it teaches her children, the USA changed drastically about the time of the Stokes trial. Now teaching them to worship the creature more than the Creator. The Psalm goes on to clarify that God is watching all from heaven. He points out the feckless efforts of kings (and presidents) of human strength or of horses (war machines). Nor is our salvation found in a voting booth! In America the majority is in favor of woman conveniently killing their children in the womb and they approve sodomy as an alternate parenting technique. The majority call evil good, and good evil. The Psalmist makes it clear that "The eye of the LORD is upon them that fear him" and "upon them that hope in his mercy." Is his eye upon you? Isn't it great being in the eye of our Creator? American children, after Stokes, were brought up and trained that a dog eventually mutates into a horse; don't expect normal thinking from them. After the election dust settles, there will only be a minority that will say "Our soul waiteth for the LORD: he is our help and our shield. For our heart shall rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name." Join this minority in America, you will only get gross intolerance from the world, but you get the Creator's eye. God says, "Blessed are all they that put their trust in the LORD." This Psalm starts with a command to rejoice, praise, and sing. You have got his eye; be about His business.
