Atlanterhavsveien 27. desember 2011

How would you like the job of building this road? Reminds me of the seven mile bridge in the Florida Keys. The road is built on several small islands and reefs, and is crossed by eight bridges, several roads and overpasses. This road has a view of the open sea, which is rare on the roads along the Norwegian coast. You can see fjords and mountains near the road. The spectacular road quickly became a tourist attraction, insofar precautions should be displayed while driving, because of the attendance of the road by the local population and visitors. Imagine you are driving
